BISHOP PRESIDES AT DEDICATION

Interesting Exercises Held at Memorial Building on Jamestown Island Yesterday.

MANY MINISTERS TAKE PART

Annual Pilgrimage of A. P. V. A. Enjoyed by Hundreds—Mrs. Garnett Painfully Hurt.

For the purpose of dedicating the memorial building which was erected on the site of the old church at Jamestown, and of which the ruins of the ancient tower forms a part, more than 600 Richmond people made a pilgrimage to the island yesterday on the steamer Pocahontas, starting at 8 o'clock in the morning and returning after a delightful journey at 9 o'clock last night. The building, erected by the Colonial Dames and turned over to the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, was consecrated by ministers of the different denominations to the use of every church.

Exercises at Building. Upon its arrival at the island the boat was met by a crowd as large as the one it carried, made up of people from the neighborhood. The procession was led by a vested choir, sang "The Church Is Our Foundation." The choir was followed by the ministers participating, a delegation from the Colonial Dames and the officers of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities. At the church stood Bishop A. M. Randolph, who had come up to the island from Norfolk to preside. The Rev. Drs. W. V. Tudor, of the Methodist Church; Russell Cecil, of the Presbyterian Church; R. H. Pitt, of the Baptist Church—all from Richmond, and the Rev. Mr. Goodwin, of the Episcopal Church, at Williamsburg, took part in the ceremony.

Brief, but excellent addresses were made by the Rev. William Meade Clark and the Rev. Dr. James Power Smith, of Richmond. After a few words, setting apart the building to the worship of all denominations, the bishop pronounced the benediction.

Following the devotional services the crowd, of which not one-tenth was able to gain admittance to the building, spent an hour or more exploring the island, especially inspecting the improvements made by the association during the last year. The statue of Captain John Smith has been placed in position and also the government monument. Besides a great deal of work has been done in the way of beautifying the grounds and preserving the island.

Mrs. Garnett Injured.

The only accident of the trip was that of Mrs. R. C. Garnett, the wife of Deputy Sheriff Garnett, of Henric county, who fell and broke her shoulder shortly after the boat started on the return trip.

Walking in the salon, Mrs. Garnett stepped into a small pool of water and was thrown violently. Dr. Stuart, who was on the boat, did everything possible for her comfort with the small facilities at hand. Upon the arrival of the steamer at Richmond a carriage was called and she was taken to her home, at the county courthouse. The broken bones were set by Drs. Michaux and Virgilus Harris, and at 12 o'clock last night Mrs. Garnett was resting quietly.

The trip down and back on the steamer was very pleasant. Ideal weather, congenial company, and complete arrangements for the comfort and refreshment of the crowd, combined to make the occasion delightful for all who accompanied the association on its annual pilgrimage. At night, in the moonlight, the scene on the water as the boat sped along toward Richmond was very beautiful.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION

Lively Contest on For Position of Delegates to Boston.

At the regular meeting of the Richmond Typographical Union, which will be held in Labor Temple on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, delegates will be nominated to the fifty-fourth annual convention of the International Typographical Union of North America and Canada, which will convene in Boston on August 10th. On the Wednesday following the election will be held at 6:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Locally the contest will be a lively one. Messrs. Giles W. Courtney, J. Pulling, Henry L. Tenser and Eugene W. Gill all stand about an even chance of representing the union at the national officers.

Doctors to Meet.

OPENING SQUABBLE OF NEGRO MEETING

State Convention To-Day Will Probably Be Lively—Burrell Laughs at Resolutions.

As a preliminary skirmish of what promises to be a fight of no mean proportions when the State convention of the Negroes opens to-day, a meeting held on Third Street last night was a failure, chiefly because those in charge smartly turned the trick on the opposition, which, it is said, was clearly in the majority and would have dominated the session had real business been gone into.

When the meeting was over, those who called it had not undertaken anything further than the election of a chairman and secretary of an opposition city committee yet to be chosen, deferring until 10 o'clock this morning the naming of delegates to Chicago and an election for the district.

The State convention will begin at 12 o'clock to-day, and it is said that former Postmaster Otis H. Russell will be chairman, and that probably three out of the four delegates-at-large will be white men. The meeting last night, which was held in the hall over R. E. Jones' office, elected J. M. Elliott (white), city chairman, and J. R. Pollard (colored) secretary. The session lasted only three minutes, and it is contended by the faction of the negro voters opposed to the election of a contesting delegation to Chicago, that with the federal employees they had a clear majority, and would easily have controlled it if the business had been taken up. But the other side shrewdly figured that the Federal employees will, for the most part, be on duty to-day, and the anti-white faction will be in a position to run things as it pleases.

Other Faction Meets.

Foreseeing the result, the Federal building crowd repaired to the rooms of the Richmond Athletic Club and organized and adopted resolutions. The room in which the gathering held forth was small and strange as it may appear, the proceedings were not altogether harmonious. E. A. Randolph was made chairman, and Nathaniel Roy secretary, and there was a good deal of grumbling prior to the adoption of the resolutions commending Senator Foraker for his stand in the Brownsville matter; declaring that Secretary Taft had done only his duty in carrying out the orders of the President in dismissing the troops, and in doing the work of Congressman C. Ransom Sloop as State chairman. Although these resolutions were adopted with a strong chorus of "ayes," the "noes," under the leadership of W. P. Burrell and others, made a fair showing, indicating plainly that there was a considerable minority feeling in the meeting.

A speech was made by H. F. Jonathan, a colored merchant, who declared that the white people of Richmond are the best friends the negroes ever had. He had fought all his life for the elevation of his race, but, he declared in an impassioned manner, "Negroes, you are wrong. You've got to be men. You should stand in the face of job or anything else for what you believe to be right, and I tell you you are cutting the ground from under you by your action."

Burrell Also Kicks.

W. P. Burrell made a vigorous speech, ridiculing the resolutions. He said that by inference they condemned the Federal employees for not doing the work of the city, and that the action of Judge Taft in carrying out the orders of his chief. When the resolutions were adopted, Burrell shouted in a loud voice, "The President condemned by post-office employees," and the meeting adjourned.

During the meeting there was at times much confusion. The times said that all parliamentary usage gave him a right to limit speeches to five minutes, but Burrell and others held the floor as long as they desired, notwithstanding repeated raps of the chairman's gavel.

Although it is expected that the State convention to-day will be slimly attended by delegates from without the city, the meeting will probably be stormy.

Cards Were Obscene.

David Williams and W. E. Ramkey were arrested yesterday evening by Captain Tomlinson and Detective Sergeant Gibson on a charge of printing, having in their possession and selling cards containing obscene literature. Some of the cards were bought by the proprietor of a cleaning and pressing establishment, who was yesterday morning fined $10 for distributing them.

Father and Son Fight.

H. R. Smith and R. H. Smith (white), father and son, were arrested early last night on a charge of being disorderly and drunk and fighting in the street. The older man got the best of the fight and the son had to be treated for various small wounds by Dr. Woodson, of the ambulance corps.

TO PLAN FUTURE GROWTH OF CITY

Question of Providing Larger Residential Areas to Be Considered To-Night.

A the Mechanics' Institute to-night a public meeting will be held for a discussion of the work of planning the future growth of Richmond, and providing larger residential areas looking to the better housing of wage-earners.

That some such step is necessary has long been evident. The Chamber of Commerce already has the matter under careful consideration, too, of its standing committees, acting jointly, having taken up the question of determining some practical means by which the desired results can be secured. Improvement in health conditions and benefits to the industrial interests of the city are expected to follow the accomplishment of these results.

Mr. F. D. Williams, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and the members of the board of directors will attend the meeting at the Mechanics' Institute to-night. Appreciating the excellent opportunity to become informed on this subject the president of the chamber has requested that the regular session of the directors be deferred until some later date, and that all the members attend the public meeting.

JUDGE PURNELL APPOINTED TO SIT FOR JUDGE WADDELL

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILMINGTON, N. C., May 13.—An order received here to-night from Judge J. C. Pritchard, United States Circuit Court, appoints Judge Thomas R. Purnell to preside over the district and circuit court for Eastern District of Virginia at the term commencing June 9th, and in place of Judge Waddeill.

SALOONS AT TRANSFER POINT MUST BE CLOSED, JUDGE CLOPTON RULES

Court May Allow Applicants to Do Business in Some Other Place, However.

Though the corner at Seventh and Broad Streets is admitted to be the best policed in the city of Richmond, though officers are detailed for duty there throughout every hour of the twenty-four and a call goes into headquarters from the patrol box near the armory every twelve minutes, and though the applicants are men of good reputation, Judge William I. Clopton, of Manchester, sitting in the Hustings Court for Judge Whit, yesterday afternoon, refused to grant to E. L. Thompson & Company, on the northwest corner, and O. A. Flournoy, on the opposite side, license to continue in a saloon business that has been flourishing at the two stands for many years.

In rendering his decision, Judge Clopton stated that he wished it to be distinctly understood that he was not reflecting on the good name of the applicants, who he felt sure, were proper men to conduct saloons, but that he acted adversely to them because of the location, which, after having heard all the evidence, he deemed unfit. Mr. H. M. Smith, counsel for Mr. Flournoy, and Mr. James E. Cannon, counsel for Mr. Thompson, asked the court if he would hear applicants this morning for license to conduct a bar room in the city. Judge Clopton stated that he would be glad to hear the new applications, particularly because the character of neither of the two men had been impeached. Mr. Flournoy may ask for license to conduct a bar room at Custard's old place, just below his present location.

Judge's Decision. In making his statement to the court, Mr. Smith said that his client, Mrs. Doyle, who is represented in the saloon by Mr. Flournoy, would lose every cent she had if a license was refused to her. In rendering his decision Judge Clopton said:

"The glory and boast of our civilization is the beauty, modesty and virtue of our women, and it is the duty of the court to protect them from the contact and humiliation a necessary arising where they are exposed to the presence of drunken men and roudies, uttering vile and profane language and filthy practices, such as vomiting on the street, in their presence, and being pulled by the arm and asked to take a drink, and further from being jostled and forced to move by gangs of drunken men."

Several witnesses from the Northside stated that they had seen disorderly conduct on the corner in question and that they had noticed drunken men coming out of both saloons. They objected to the granting of the license because the corner is used as a transfer point. In the afternoon several officers testified, and without exception, said that both places were conducted in an orderly manner so far as they knew, and that the corner is the best policed spot in the city. The two districts meet here, and fifty-three officers call from the patrol box at the Seventh Street armory every twenty-four hours. An officer is continually on duty at this point.

Major Tyler a Caller.

Major S. Heth Tyler, of Norfolk, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Louis to look after some business. Major Tyler called on his friend, Mr. Ben P. Owen, Jr., with whom he was associated for four years when Mr. Owen was his father's private secretary.

British Steamer Arrives.

The British steamer Kenneth C. of Bridgetown, Barbados, arrived at the port of Richmond on Tuesday evening with a large cargo. Captain Leonard Tower immediately reported to the British vice-consul. Before leaving the vessel will take a cargo of lumber for Annam, Nova Scotia.

ROWE CAUGHT AT LAST IN NORFOLK

Alleged Embezzler Is Being Held There for Richmond Authorities.

J. E. Rowe, wanted here on a charge of embezzling funds from the firm of J. B. Mosby & Company, by whom he was employed as secretary and treasurer, was arrested in Norfolk yesterday by Chief of Detectives Ford. He will be held for the Richmond authorities, who will send for him to-day.

Four Warrants Issued by the Company.

Four warrants were issued by the company against Rowe, the highest amount alleged to have been stolen being $45. It is said that other warrants will be sworn out against him, and that at least one of them will be for the embezzlement of over $50, enough to charge grand larceny.

Rowe's whereabouts were discovered by Mr. Julius B. Mosby. It is said that the alleged defaulter had been in Norfolk several days, though it was given out by his family when the shortage was first discovered that he had gone South on business. That business was never explained. Rowe admitted his guilt to his employers, but they were slow about beginning prosecution, desiring to embarrass the man's family and friends as little as possible. He is married, but has no children. His wife has stated that she would stand by him through everything.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Annual Meeting of Northside Citizens' Association Held.

The annual meeting of the Northside Citizens' Association was held on Monday evening in the Town Hall. The following officers were elected for the year 1908-1909:

President—George W. Holladay.

Vice-President—W. H. Holladay.

Secretary—J. A. Dyne.

Treasurer—Walter Hunter.

A report of the officers showed the association to be in a flourishing condition. The treasurer's statement was exceptionally gratifying. A committee of twelve was appointed to take prompt action with reference to the school building, which was the interest of every resident of Highland Park. This committee will go to work at once, and every resident of the Hill is asked to take an interest in the project.

INDIAN STARTS HOME

White Tiger to Walk From Here to Arizona.

White Tiger, an Indian, who claims Arizona as his home, left the City Home yesterday morning to start out on the wild west. He had been an inmate of the home for the past three days, having been picked up by Dr. Young, tired and footsore in his journey here from Petersburg. He is fifty-seven years old. He came with the 101 Ranch, which exhibited at the Jamestown Exposition. He wants to return to his home to live and die among his own people.

MAY BE PICKPOCKET

George Cadigan Arrested While Acting Suspiciously at Byrd Station.

George Cadigan, a young white man, claiming Norfolk as his home, was arrested yesterday evening at the Byrd Street Station by Officers Schiller, Tate and Hughes. He is suspected of being a pickpocket, and was caught while at work. It is believed, with two others, he would say nothing in regard to the case or about himself.

Southern Railway Decrease.

Estimated earnings of the Southern Railway for the first week in May, according to a statement issued yesterday by Comptroller Plant, show a decrease of $225,918, against the first week of May, 1907.

BODY OF BARNES IS IDENTIFIED

Brought to Richmond and Funeral Will Take Place This Afternoon.

Having been in the water more than five months, the body of Edward L. Barnes, who was drowned in James River on January 15th, was identified on the Chesterfield side of the river, near Chester, yesterday by his two brothers, and was brought to the city for burial this afternoon. Found on Monday the corpse was buried on the river bank. Messrs. J. M. and E. T. Barnes, thinking that it might be that of their brother, for which they have been searching since he was drowned, went down on the car on Tuesday and disinterred it. Then they were almost sure it was their brother, and they reburied it in order to return and identify it beyond question.

Funeral To-Day.

Yesterday a number of the dead man's friends they hired a steam launch and went down to the grave. Though the body was a mere skeleton, they were sure it was their brother. The body was taken to the city, and the funeral will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Pine Street Baptist Church. On the day that he met his death, Barnes was with some of his friends on the little island above the Old Pump-House, where he had gone for a picnic.

In some manner, not clearly known, he was thrown into the river and swept over the dam below. He man, aged, however, to catch on a snag, where he hung for a long time. Robert Bauer in attempting to rescue him crossed the dam and succeeded in getting him into a boat. The current was so rough that the boat was soon overturned, and both men were thrown into the water. Bauer, fresh and an excellent swimmer, succeeded in reaching a little island, from which he was afterward rescued with great difficulty. Barnes, however, from the long exposure, his friend clung to the boat, which sank.

LITTLE BOY DROWNED WHILE BATHING

Charlie Marsh Caught Foot of Rescuer, but Could Not Hold On.

Almost in reach of Emile Cahan, a twelve-year-old boy, who made a heroic attempt at rescue, little Charles W. Marsh, ten years of age, son of J. N. Marsh, of No. 2203 East Marshall Street, was drowned in the new basin of the Trigg Shipyard, at the foot of Twenty-eighth Street, yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock. The body was recovered about forty-five minutes after it went down, and although the child's father thought there was slight signs of life when he reached the place a half-hour later, all efforts to revive the little fellow were unavailing.

The boy went bathing in the basin with Hyron Evans, of No. 405 North Twenty-third Street, who was about his own age.

Neither being able to swim, they waded around in the shallow water near the bank, but finally, walking side by side, stepped beyond their depth. Seeing the danger, Emile Cahan, but little larger than the others, dived into the basin and grabbed Evans, who happened to be nearest to him. After a few minutes of struggling he succeeded in getting the boy to the shore. Then he swam out again, and was reaching for Marsh when the latter sank for the last time. As Marsh went down he caught hold of Cahan's foot, and the latter began to swim. The drowning boy, however, was too weak to hold to his rescuer, and sank. Cahan turned around and reached several times, but could not find him.

Some men in the river witnessed the scene and went to work at once diving and dragging the basin. After about thirty minutes the boy's body was caught by Mr. George Barrett, who was dragging the bottom with a grappling hook.

The men laid the corpse on the bank and employed such methods of resuscitation as they could, while a boy ran for Mr. Marsh. The father says when he reached them he thought he detected a slight fluttering of the child's pulse. He immediately called the ambulance, but when it arrived, about half an hour later, there was no hope.

Mr. Marsh is a traveling man, and had just returned to his home from Florida, when he was told that his son had been drowned. The boy was the only child. Mrs. Marsh was indisposed yesterday and very nervous. The news of her son's death naturally nearly prostrated her.

Speaking of the affair last night, Mr. Marsh declared that while he was deeply appreciative of the efforts of every one, he could not but think that his boy would have been saved yesterday had a policeman in the vicinity. He feels that if policemen were kept on duty near this place they could, perhaps, save the lives of many children when in danger.

The body was removed to Mr. Marsh's home. The funeral will be held at 5:30 P. M. to-morrow from Christ's Episcopal Church. The interment will be made in Oakwood Cemetery.
